

Visual Interpreting from English to ASL

This course guides interpreters working on English-to-ASL skills. Challenges in rendering ASL from English source material develop visual thinking skills. Learners will be able to:

- Demonstrate application of interpreting process, content, place, time, procedures, causes, and reasoning
- Demonstrate increased classifier incorporation in interpreting
- Demonstrate non-question forms of “who, what, where, when, how and why”
- Demonstrate rich visual imagery in interpreting
- Collaborate in developing ASL expression of English phrases
- Match concepts represented by multiple-meaning words

This course will have several hands-on practice activities and group discussions. Additional online coursework will be required to qualify for credit.

Target audience: K-12 interpreters, student interpreters, community interpreters, and deaf and hard of hearing teachers.

ABOUT THE INSTRUCTOR

For over twenty years, Trix Bruce has been teaching on educational, medical, and performance interpreting. She is a trusted instructor dedicated to empowering participants to reach their goals.
