

Notes from Trix from home....

Thank you for participating in my webinars!

Like many of you, I prefer on-site training workshops, but in these times, I'm hanging in there with online trainings, still excited to be there for you, helping boost your skills.

Here's more about my thoughts: Do I prefer on-site or webinar workshop sessions?

When you RSVP to sign up and make your payment, if you don't hear from me right away with your Zoom invitation and e-handouts, please email me for a link and the handouts. As of right now, I'm just using Excel for tracking RSVPs. It's my goal to have a new program launch by July, where participants can sign up easily.

When you log in, type your name so I can make sure you are there for RID CEUs. Please mute your audio. Then you're ready to learn!

During our sessions, please make yourself comfortable, and feel free to eat. We'll be sure to take needed breaks to ease your eyes and give you a rest from writing notes. Being patient and having fun are both important!

If you have any concerns or questions during the webinar, please type through "chat" so everyone can see. If I have difficulty understanding your question, I will direct my attention to your video.

Sometimes a webinar finishes a bit ahead of the scheduled end time. When this happens, I can stay for your questions. During this time, I prefer to answer your questions through signing rather than typing back-and-forth.

We will have FREE monthly complimentary presentations open ONLY to those who have participated in my past webinars. During these special-invitation sessions, you'll be able to earn free RID CEUS.

Feeling like an octopus right now, busy preparing and promoting presentations! Working alone, as you probably know, can sometimes be overwhelming. Your helping me to get through encourages me to stay strong. Please let your friends and communities know about my webinars. THANK YOU for sharing!

Looking forward to having FUN with you all! ~ ~ ~ Trix – Busy as a bee!
